Now in its ninth year, the CTRC All Abilities Summer Camp offers children with disabilities, their siblings, and friends the opportunity to spend the day on our 38-acre farm. Camp activities include daily riding lessons, equine education, barn chores, art projects, and group games.

Working together with other camp staff, instructors are expected to create a physically and emotionally safe environment for the campers. Instructors teach 2 separate all abilities riding classes in the morning. Camp instructors are encouraged to be creative in developing and implementing new activities for ground lessons in the afternoon. This is a one of a kind opportunity to work with kids of all ages, backgrounds, and abilities in an open, fun environment.
